

FAQ Reading

1. How can I find the required reading level for the class that I want to take?

You can find the required reading level in the following places:

- Course Descriptions (www.mcc.edu select Programs & Courses, select Course Descriptions);
- In the Class Schedule Booklet (next to the course title);
- Meet with a Counselor or Advisor at any campus location.

2. How can I increase my reading placement score?

- Take the reading course in which you were placed through testing;
- Register for Academic Literacy (ACLT) courses;
- Meet with a Counselor or Advisor for suggestions on how to improve your reading placement scores.

3. What does ACSR-016, ACSR-030 or ACSR-100 on my Test Summary screen in WebAdvisor mean?

- ACSR-016 – Based on placement testing scores (or lack of a test score if you haven't taken the reading test), you have been placed into RDNG-016 and are unable to register for any classes that require ACSR-030 or ACSR-100, as a prerequisite.
- ACSR-030 – Based on placement testing scores, you have been placed into RDNG-030 and are unable to register for any classes that require ACSR-100, as a prerequisite.
- ACSR-100 – Based on placement test scores, you meet the prerequisite for all MCC courses.

FAQ Reading

4. I'm almost finished with my program. Why do I have to do this now?

- To insure the success and completion of your program.
- To help meet the new mandatory reading prerequisite for the course.

5. Can ENGL-101 and ENGL-102 be used to meet the college level reading prerequisite?

- No, successfully completing ENGL-101 and ENGL-102 does not meet the mandatory reading requirements.

6. Do Guest Students, Dual Enroll or Non Degree Students need to take the reading placement?

- Yes, Guest Students, Dual Enroll and Non Degree students must take the reading placement to establish a reading score and the Placement Exam.

