Paul Jordan

Paul Jordan, Instructor/Coordinator, Social Work Technician Program -
Social Sciences
Employee of the Month for September 2008

Comments about Paul include:

- ◆ Since Paul became Instructor/Coordinator of the Social Work Technician Program, he has exhibited outstanding commitment to the mission, vision and values of Mott Community College. He has worked to change the program in positive ways while maintaining the values of transferability to university programs and entry-level career readiness. To better serve the program's students, Paul has increased the number of human service agencies in which students can be placed in their field work experience courses from 45 to 73. This means that students have more opportunity to work in agencies within their own communities and to experience a broader range of social work environments
- ◆ Paul is dedicated to helping students succeed. An outstanding example of this is the Pioneers Program, an outreach he created for first-generation college students. He identified a need and decided to look to himself first for a solution. He is volunteering his time to reach out to students who may not feel confident and comfortable with the college environment,
- ◆ Paul has also taken on the responsibility of being the Advisor of the Social Work Club. He took on the club last year and is continuing with it this year. The club has grown under his supervision and Student Life has heard many good things about his interaction with students within the club.

CONGRATULATIONS, PAUL!
