

Special Edition: Coronavirus Communication 55

May 3, 2020

Good Wednesday Evening!

Today was an especially busy day reviewing the Reopening Task Group individual plans and looking for commonalities. As I stated last week, the plans were created with great attention to detail, thought, care, and concern for detail. I will be sharing the compilation of the Five Phase plan based on Student Success, Employee Success, Teaching and Learning Success, Workforce Partnerships Success, and Community Sustainability Success on Friday. The College community will be able to review and discuss the plan before implementation.

I spent the rest of the day meeting with my direct reports discussing their progress on various tasks. Student Life Coordinator Ali Dowdall, Chief of Staff DeAndra Larkin and I met to assess the President's Student Advisory Council Program and make recommendations for improvement. I look forward to an even better year developing leadership skills for the students selected to participate in the program.

Thanks to a suggestion I received on Monday, the College will host a virtual faculty panel discussion on Monday, June 8, from 3-5 p.m. that will share various perspectives with faculty, staff, and students about the murder of George Floyd. The panelists are:

Mr. Rodney Barber, Math Faculty

Dr. Dalton Connolly, Social Work Technician Program Coordinator

Mr. Brian Harding, History Faculty

Mr. Brian Littleton, Psychology Faculty

Dr. Derine McCorry, Marketing Faculty

Dr. Denise Polk, Dental Assisting Coordinator

Ms. Haley Slade, Criminal Justice and Corrections Program Coordinator and featuring MCC Public Safety Chief Michael Odette

I have attached the announcement of the event.

Have a great evening.

Looking Forward!
