Notes:

This curriculum is designed so that a student could finish the associate degree even if they took an assignment elsewhere in the state. All of the classes (or at least one when there is a choice) that are required post-training are available online with the exception of CRJU-161 and -269. Should Mott move forward with the corrections training academy, the CRJU Program would make it a priority to develop one or both of those classes for online delivery.

In addition, because these classes are common classes, students could complete the courses at any number of colleges and transfer the credits back to Mott to attain the associate degree.
