Gateway to College is designed for young adults ages 16-24 who have dropped out of high school or are significantly behind in credits for their age and not on track to graduate. The program allows students to complete their high school diploma requirements on a college campus while simultaneously earning college credits towards a degree or certificate.

Students are placed into small learning communities during their first semester, and together they take classes in reading, writing, math and college skills. Upon completion of the “Foundation” courses students transition and begin taking classes with the general student population. All classes are conducted on Mott Community College campus.

Gateway to College empowers youth!

During their enrollment in the program, students receive wrap-around support, one on one advising, and mentoring from Resource Specialists who will keep students on track for high school completion, while at the same time assisting them with transitioning to post-secondary education. Once students have completed their high school diploma requirements they will graduate from the Gateway to College program.

Mott Community College is the only community college in the State of Michigan and one of 35 community and technical colleges that currently offers the Gateway to College program.
